DESCRIPTION

Anime is a large, intimate weaving meant as a personal map: the composition interprets the artist's family—two parental presences and the slender line that passes between them—through a disciplined play of texture, thread and negative space. The left field is detailed with vertical stitches, tufted knots and scattered color notes that suggest memory points; the centre opens into a cascade of loose, elegant threads forming the "line"; the right panel answers with dense, rhythmic weave and tactile bobble inserts. Together the three registers form a measured dialogue of distance, connection and time.

All fibres are locally sourced in Sardegna: the cotton is spun from small local producers, linking material and meaning. Woven by hand on a horizontal loom, the piece combines tight plain weave, looped borders, tufted highlights and hand-drawn thread work. Those manual irregularities—slight variations in loop, occasional thicker knot, the tender sway of the loose threads—are deliberate: they are the traces of hands and of lived stories.

This tapestry is designed to be experienced close up and across time: at first a graphic composition, then a textile archive of gestures. It suits large walls in living rooms, staircases or contemplative interiors that welcome narrative and tactility.
